

Dermalogica Teams Up With Private Jet Services Group To Offer the Best Skin Going In The Skies

Dermalogica, the world's foremost leader in professional skincare, and Private Jet Services Group (PJS) team up. Now, Private Jet Services Groups' clients, including celebrities and VIPs, known for flying in the lap of luxury, can enjoy full service skin amenities as first class as the private jet they select.

Known for flying top rock bands, entertainment companies, Fortune 500 companies and large group movements, PJS focuses exclusively on the highest end of the private jet industry and sets the standard for individualized.

The partnership with Dermalogica offers all passengers deluxe amenity skin kits that will include Dermalogica favorites including: Multi-Active Toner, Skin Smoothing Cream, Multivitamin Hand & Nail Treatment and Multivitamin Power Firm for the eyes and lips. Additionally, Dermalogica product will be available on-board the aircraft lavatories.

"We are pleased to partner with Dermalogica", explains Greg Raiff, President of Private Jet Services Group, "This superior skin care line allows our clients to remain refreshed and hydrated during the flight, arriving revitalized at the final destination."

"Finding the right brand for PJS was no easy task." "It took considerable research to choose a skin care company as superior and customized as PJS and our clientele." "We feel we have truly selected a brand that resonates with our fliers by choosing Dermalogica," adds Mr. Raiff.

"Dermalogica is very proud to partner with PJS," states Lauren Consiglio, Brand Manager for Dermalogica. "They provide their passengers with the absolute best service in air travel and we now provide them with the absolute best in skin care. PJS clients and Dermalogica consumers are one in the same, they are both savvy and sophisticated and know how to take care of themselves." "We feel this is a perfect match."

PJS and first class skin care, a perfect on-board pairing for any A-lister.
